The first British Postal Guide "containing the chief public regulations of the Post Office, with other information" was issued on 15th May 1856 (although the cover states 1st May 1856) with the next on 1st October and subsequently quarterly for many years. Starting with the issue of 1st January 1880 the book was renamed the Post Office Guide and the contents were rearranged and expanded. The Guides from 1856 contained a list of most of the post offices in the United Kingdom and continued to include the post offices in southern Ireland after 1922.

In 1937 the information contained in the Post Office Guide was split between volumes titled "London Post Offices and Streets" issued on 1st June 1937 and, issued in September 1937, the "Post Office Guide itself" without the listing of post offices, and "Provincial Offices of the Post Office" (which excluded the offices in the London Postal Area). The last volume was later renamed "Post Offices in the United Kingdom" and still included southern Ireland and excluded the London Postal Area.

The links shown are mainly to copies of works available on Google Books, the Hathi Trust or the Internet Archive. They include copies of a large number of Guides between 1861 and 1900 available from Google from the end of 2025 sourced from Oxford University.

Apart from those from Oxford University and the "Post Offices in the United Kingdom" the items are also available on the GBPS website at [British Postal Guides / Post Office Guides \[Great Britain Philatelic Society\]](#).

It is believed that access is not provided to later volumes for fear of copyright infringement but certainly up to 1969 the publications would have been subject to Crown copyright and "if the work is published commercially before the end of the period of 75 years from the end of the calendar year in which it was made," copyright only lasts until "the end of the period of 50 years from the end of the calendar year in which it was first so published."
